Site inspection report app

Construction site inspection report app.

Try iAuditor today for free. Use the same pre-loaded checklists and templates across each project to ensure consistency. iAuditor Site Inspection App SIGN UPSIGN UP™ We use the task system to handle inspection requests and track issues. Document any issue in the field with notes and photos, then assign it directly to the team responsible. Lastly, require digital signatures at the end of inspections to safeguard audit accountability. With our mobile app, your foremen, superintendents and engineers can report a safety concern as soon as they see it. Once your site inspection is complete, your data is automatically saved via cloud technology where you can easily access it from your desktop or mobile device. Use our construction scheduling software to plan a full inspection containing hundreds of inspection items pre-loaded with building inspection checklists. Automatically generate PDF reports and share them with the project team, owner, or architect. iAuditor lets inspectors take pictures and annotate them directly on the app, reducing the lag time between inspection and reporting. Using multiple tools to conduct inspections in some instances, photo evidence conveys information better than written descriptions. iAuditor's secure cloud technology not only provides unlimited storage, it also allows users to set permissions which means only those authorized by the organization would have access to inspection data and reports. Making sense of data by reviewing numerous reports iAuditor's powerful data analytics interprets the inspection data being saved to the cloud and provides site inspectors with valuable insights such as frequently failed items so they can identify the root of problems. We'll attach photos and include a crop of the location, and the task format speeds up requests. View the story Commercial building inspection Anytime you are on one of your client's sites, our construction management app allows you to record any issues or inspection items that you see on a walkthrough. iAuditor's site inspection software is a powerful mobile tool and web app that helps site inspectors identify and eradicate safety hazards and non-compliance in construction sites. Just tag it on the sheet with the right location and trade, and document it with a couple photos. Fieldwire's app makes it easy to carry out construction inspections. Everything is tracked on our building inspection platform and shared immediately with your subcontractors. Scheduled and ad hoc site inspections ensure that the site maintains adherence to safety standards, and that the project stays aligned with organizational specifications and government regulations up to its completion. The best construction management software is the one that keeps safety high on the jobsite. Accountability issues Using paper templates makes it hard for management to ensure that site inspectors are following protocol and performing their duties on time. This is why it is important for construction professionals and site inspectors to have the right tools to get the job done. For site inspectors who use a paper template, this means having to bring a camera along for photo documentation, and dealing with the hassle of printing them out to manually attach them to final reports. SIGN UPSIGN UP™ We generate reports pretty regularly with Fieldwire and they get distributed to subcontractors immediately, so we send all of the defects that we find directly to them. View the story Safety is a constant concern on your construction site, not something that you do once a week. Assigned inspections and corrective actions can easily be tracked so you know which ones have been completed, were missed, or are overdue. iAuditor gives you the option to set mandatory fields to ensure that no items are skipped. With our mobile construction app, you can set custom inspection checklists, carry out the inspection itself, and effortlessly generate your building inspection report. SIGN UPSIGN UP™ I can use the built-in microphone to make notes on the fly, and then they're all there in the [Fieldwire] app. Damaged or lost inspection reports Another disadvantage with paper inspection reports is that they can easily get damaged, lost, or accessed by unauthorized personnel. Issues are organized around trades and locations making it easy to find them later. As soon as an issue is reported through our construction management software, it is uploaded to our servers so that everyone can track, see, or fix it. Spot trends and get a comprehensive view of your site's performance with iAuditor. By using the iAuditor site inspection software, construction personnel can make use of intuitive smart forms to increase the efficiency and precision of inspections, data collection, and reporting. Here are some of the biggest site inspection problems the iAuditor site inspection software helps you solve: Manual data entry and compilation Traditional pen-and-paper inspections require site inspectors to manually transcribe data and transfer them from inspection templates to printed reports. Report issues directly from the construction site on your mobile device and document it with photos, annotations and comments. It's sped up everybody's process. View the story Construction inspection checklist Inspections allow you to make sure that quality and safety are on point. Our construction software will notify the concerned subcontractor instantly. As a building inspector, you can also share those checklist templates with the engineers and superintendents on the project to drive quality and consistency on the project.

Automatically generate comprehensive report with our site inspection software.
